The athletic girl seems to be uncomfortable in the tube skirt, and no doubt she it, for the steps she has long been practising and the almost mannish carriage that she has acquired have to be cast aside in the new gown. There is a happy medium in skirts as well as in anything else, and here in Honolulu the narrow dresses have been carried to the extreme only by the lew who "go in for all the fads." The tube was probably designed for the slender girls and women who are neither athletic nor

Have you ever watched a motion picture of the Civil War days when crinolines were worn? They look ridiculous to us, and the women seem awkward in the hoop skirts that sway from side to side, propelled by the swinging of the metal cage beneath them. No doubt you have smiled, too, at the pictures taken some years later when bustles were in vogue. Perhaps on some rainy day you have found stored away in an old trunk an old family album and while looking over the ancient tintypes have laughed at the odd styles prevailing in the gownsthose before her wore. NEW YORK, June 25.-Gray haired sixty-five years old, mother of ten chil dren, Mrs. Elizabeth Berlo of Edge water, N. J., swam along and across the Hudson yesterday from Edgewater to Washington Bathing Club at the foot of One Hundred and Fifty-second street. When she and her eighteenyear-old daughter Kitty, who accompanied her, had completed their fourand-a-half-mile swim in forty five minutes, she was forcibly restrained from trying to make the return trip as she had come.

Every one of Mrs. Berlo's nine boys and one girl has won cups at swimming carnivals as the result of her teaching. She herself saved three live: when a member of the Boston Volun-

The tide was against them, but using the Australian crawl stroke, the two women made sure headway against it. The mother was in her element. The years rolled off her as smoothly as did the water from her firm white arm as it slowly rose and fell over her head. She was a mermaid in a shimmering green sea, and the song she sang was of an Irish heroine. Mis Kitty didn't approve. She was not old enough to feel so young, and between puffs she called:

"Be quiet, mother. Don't you know you've just got to save your breath?" As a just punishment, mother increased her stroke and neared the bat ing club 100 yards in advance of her daughter. When they reached the clubhouse, fifty young men attempted to carry them from the water, Mrs. Berlo

Do you think I've almost lived in it since I was fourteen for nothing?"

Mrs. Berlo was finally dissuaded and took a seat in the motorboat, while her daughter made the return trip in the water, in considerably better time, But once more upon land Mrs. Berlo began to make preparations for a repetition in the afternoon and it was cally when Miss Kitty began to cry
